Directions Read the following passage. Answer the questions about the passage that follow.

John Muir was one of our country's most important naturalists. Millions of people have read his books, and many have been influenced by his ideas. It is thanks to John Muir and others like him that many Americans today care about nature and the environment. People who work toward conservation today are acting in the spirit of this highly respected immigrant from Scotland.

John Muir is so admired that many parks, trails, and organizations are named after him. The John Muir Trust is a Scottish organization that works to protect the environment. The Muir Woods National Monument is a forest of protected redwood trees in California. The John Muir Trail runs for 211 miles through some of the most beautiful mountains in California. The John Muir Wilderness is a large area in California full of mountains, lakes, and streams. The Sierra Club that Muir established has also grown over the years, and today it does important conservation work all over the world.
